

CATALONIA Fam trip
with ATTA collaboration
18/09 – 24/09/2017

Monday 18th September

Morning Arrival of the different flights.

13:00 Transfer to VAL D'ARAN. 300 km – 3h 45 min

The Val d'Aran has its own distinctive personality. This high mountain territory is the only valley in the Catalan Pyrenees with an Atlantic climate. Its exceptional location, former links with Occitania, and century-old isolation during the winter months have left this small area with its own language (Aranese), officially recognized throughout Catalonia, and deep-rooted traditions originating in what is now the south of France.

With impressive landscapes, glacial lakes, and peaks over 3000 metres high, the Val d'Aran is an ideal destination for skiing and adventure sports; Baqueira Beret resort is considered to have the best winter sports infrastructure in the whole of the Iberian Peninsula.

17:00 Check-in at 4* Hotel in Vielha.

18:30 Stroll around Vielha.

Vielha, the capital of Val d'Aran, is a small Pyrenean city with approximately 4000 inhabitants and it is located at 974 meters above sea level. It is surrounded by peaks over 2000 meters. The village is built along the Garona River, at the point where both the Garona and Nere rivers meet.

20:00 Dinner in a typical aranese restaurant based on local food.

Tuesday 19th September

09:00 Breakfast and check-out.

09:30 E-bike activity.

You will be able to know a bit more about Val d'Aran history and its small towns while cycling.

12.00 Hiking route around Aigüestortes i Estany de Sant Maurici National Park.

Pic-nic lunch.

This is the only national park in Catalonia. The high-mountain landscape has an impressive relief and a wealth of flora and fauna. The main feature of the area is water, with close to 200 lakes and countless streams.

17:30 Transfer to Vall de Boí. 60 km – 1h

18:30 Check-in at a family hotel in Boí.

20:00 Dinner.

Wednesday 20th September

09:00 Check-out and visit of the The Vall de Boí Romanesque ensemble. It was listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 2000. The hermitage and eight churches were all built during the 11th and 12th centuries, and conserve the original Lombard Romanesque style developed in northern Italy and characterized by functional construction techniques, meticulous stonework, slim bell towers, and decorative finishes on the exterior and interior.

The Vall de Boí Romanesque ensemble is exceptional for its concentration of so many churches in such a small area, and for the unity and authenticity of their architectural style, which has undergone few modifications over the centuries.

12:00 Transfer to Mont-rebei Canyon. 54 km – 1h

13:00 Lunch in a slow food restaurant near Mont-rebei Canyon.

15:00 Hiking route around Mont-rebei Canyon.

Mont-rebei is the only large-scale canyon in Catalonia that is still largely unspoiled, uninterrupted by roads, railways or electricity cables. The canyon is formed by the River Noguera Ribagorçana on its course through Montsec Mountains, and can only be traversed by a bridle path partially carved out of the rock, affording spectacular views. A large number of hiking and kayak options are available.

The canyon walls have vertical drops of over 500 metres, and minimum widths of a mere 20 metres. The ecological interest includes native fauna (especially birds of prey), rich vegetation, and the beauty of a rugged landscape. Most of the canyon is in Montsec Natural Space.

18:00 Transfer to the hotel and check-in.

20:00 Dinner in a local restaurant.
